(500 words A; 400 words B; 300 words C)

Scenario: Starlight Production has heard about the video you have been working on and has been monitoring your progress. They have contacted your school to see if they can hire you to help them create a storyboard for their new television series. The writers of the series quit in the midst of production leaving the director with a script but no further directions. Starlight wants you to be their consultant and help them determine how the scenes should be put together. The scene will depict a conversation among friends in the hallway of a junior high school.

From your knowledge of Video Production, and the information you have learned about storyboarding, you are to develop a plan describing a storyboard that could accommodate the existing script. Starlight Production expects a full report explaining your ideas on how the scenes could be put together and what you see as the outcome of the script. Remember that this is only a WRITTEN SUMMARY of how you would go about creating a storyboard for the scene.

1st Paragraph: Write an introduction by explaining the above scenario in your own words.

2nd Paragraph: Write an explanation of the overall scene mentioned in the above paragraphs - where it will occur, how the characters will interact, and the emotions that will be expressed.

3rd Paragraph: Write a description of the segments that will follow the above scene.

4th paragraph: Go out to the Internet and research words pertaining to your critical writing; include what you have found (IN YOUR OWN WORDS).

5th Paragraph: Write a description of the props needed to successfully film the scene.
